On 13th May 1985, IQ performed a concert at the Camden Palace in London for the television series Live from London. At the time of the recording IQ had just completed their album 'The Wake', released in June 1985 and now regarded as a true classic of 80s Progressive Rock. Featuring a line-up of Peter Nicholls (vocals), Mike Holmes (guitars), Tim Esau (bass), Martin Orford (keyboards) and Paul Cook (drums), the band's live set included powerful renditions of material from 'The Wake', along with other early IQ classics. This new CD / Blu-ray release features a new mix of the performance from the original 24-track master tapes, along with a restored video master of this fine performance on a region free Blu-Ray video disc.
